

I won't sugarcoat it, This year has been the worst
If I'm being honest, I think we've all been cursed
Still we keep on rollin', Hoping for a break
I forgot to sanitize, well that was a mistake.

Staying separated is a rule that we've created
It may seem really simple, But it's kinda complicated
The World seems to be crumbling, we are falling and we're stumbling
Looking for a bit of light, Putting up a better fight

Wash your hands a little longer, so that we can all be stronger
Follow Covid Protocol, so that you can help us all
I don't want to wear a mask, but it's a pretty easy task
Can't hang out with all my friends, I can't wait till all this ends!!

Shop for all your bare essentials, here's a list of your credentials
Binge some Netflix, learn to cook, exercise, or read a book
I just really gotta say, It's not all a disaster
If we build immunity , We'll heal a little faster

I know this years been pretty strange, It looks like it'll never change
But I got one more thing to say, Tomorrow's a new day
